The Rage of the Crooked Star

With snarling fangs and savage frenzy the Star, in its Sunday issue, showed its rage at being balked out its Union Station park grub. The people are learning every day that the word Star is a pious fraud prohibition bunt shield behind which hide a clique of house-loving land speculators who care as much for the people's interests as a hog cares for astronomy—The Liberal News.

MISSOURI EDITORS

The Tariff Issue a Joke

The great crowds that have been attending the Democratic meetings that are being held in different parts of the state show that the Democrats are feeling good and have no fear that they will not again carry the state at the next general election. The large crowds in attendance at these meetings are striking terror in the hearts of even the pie-hunting office-seeking Republicans. The old standup papers and the politicians and Republican law breakers are trying to keep a "stiff upper lip" and are using the Republic to organize and fight the enemy, but their efforts are almost as weak as are their campaign issues.

There is nothing left for the poor old republicans to talk about except the tariff, and that is such a huge joke that it appears more ridiculous to a sensible thinker, no mat ter what party he belongs to. The Democrats everywhere should rally to their party, not feeling over-confident, but with a firm determination to work for a victory in 1916 and for the best president that ever slept in the White House at Washington—a man that has proven to be the fairest president for all the people the United States has ever had. —Milan Standard.

Mississippi to have supplied the demands for his products.—Cass County Democrat.

When They "Point With Pride"

It will be pleasant to read the next Missouri state Republican platform when it "points with pride" to the glorious Republican administration in St. Louis. About thirty of that administration are in jail and about forty are on the road. St. Louis has two black eyes and is a stench in the nostrils of the honest people of the state—Platte County Landmark.

We Hope They All Escaped

When 1,000 horses bought for the French army stampeded the other day at Council Bluffs and scattered to the four winds, it was seemingly a protest against the service to which they were being sent. They were intelligent enough to do credit to the fame of the horse for good sense.—St. Louis Times.

And the Board of Agriculture

Kansas will, it is said, abolish its school of mines, medical college and irrigation plants on the ground that they are useless and are of no benefit to the state. Missouri might follow Kansas and knock out its useless school of mines at Rolla and the so-called state fair at Sedalia. This year the Sedalia state fair paid out $12,000 for horse racing for the benefit of Missouri farmers.—Platte County Landmark.

Its Undesirable List

We have received a letter from the American Protective Tariff League. It wants our interest in the American protective tariff. A good while ago we ruled out several things as undesirable. Among them are rattlesnakes, bank robbers, small-pox and the American protective tariff. —Daily Herald.

The Gazette As a Provider

The St. Joseph Gazette, the Republic's organ of the fourth congressional district, is already naming the Democratic nominee for congress. This is one of The Gazette's favorite pastimes. Picking out men for Democrats to vote for is its long suit. The all-important thing to The Gazette is to secure the congressman for St. Joseph. The Republican nominee is already assured upon and will be a St. Joseph man. Now, if The Gazette can secure the nomination for a St. Joseph man on the Democratic ticket also, it's "heads I win and tails you lose." It's a sure thing game, and when the congressman does go back to St. Joseph, the country can whistle. —Nodaway Democrat-Farm.

A Setback for the Drys

The Kansas City Court of Appeals this week reversed and remanded the Macon local option contest case for a hearing on its merits in the circuit court, and attorneys for the drys are busily preparing a motion for a rehearing. The wetts bottomed their attempt to get into court on the absence of the provisional booths in the election and the appeal was taken on the overruling of a demurrer in the circuit court. The appellate court decision apparently opens up the way in a wetter direction if the case is heard in court, but the drys may have something up their sleeves on the point in question.

—Macon Times-Democrat.

Don't Know Anything Else

Not long ago we were talking with a man who said he had just been having a social chat with a man who runs a Republican newspaper. Finally he sprung this on his friend, "What makes you keep yelling hard times? The things we have to sell in this part of the country bring more than ever before. What's your idea, any way?" The standup scold grinned. "Aw," he said, "I understand; hell-damn it, I don't know anything else to say." —Lamar Democrat.

And They Should Return Alexander

The announcement made in Caldwell county newspapers recently that Hon. L. W. Reed, the Democratic prosecuting attorney of that county, will be a candidate for the congressional nomination against Judge J. W. Alexander is not causing the judges much uneasiness. Mr. Reed is a clever gentleman and a good campaigner but the Democracy of the old Third district is going to return Judge Alexander to congress for at least another term, no matter who may be his opponent for the nomination. —Richmond News.
